TO REMAIN YOUNG, ONE MUST CHANGE

As our final year at North Hills High School began to draw to a close, we were often confronted by parents and relatives who exclaimed, "It's hard to believe you're graduating already." Indeed, at times it seemed as though our high school years had flown by. And yet, our rapidly approaching commencement exercises really were believable, for we were no longer the indecisive, inexperienced freshmen who had first stepped foot into the Morrone Building less than four years earlier. The tremendous change was clearly the result of a gradual process with

The changes in our lives mirrored the changes in the world around us, and we witnessed many memorable events during our years at North Hills. In sports,

Under the direction of coordinator Mrs. Anne Picone, the English Department at North Hills offered a program as diverse as the students themselves. Topics of instruction ranged from Shakespearean tragedy to sentence structure to subliminal advertising.

As Miss Johnson's A.P. class pondered Hamlet, across the hall Miss Jackson promoted the wonders of etymology, and upstairs, Inside the Mind students enjoyed viewing Alfred Hitchcock's "Psycho." Teachers agreed, however, that it was the students, not the course material, which made a class interesting observed one instructor,

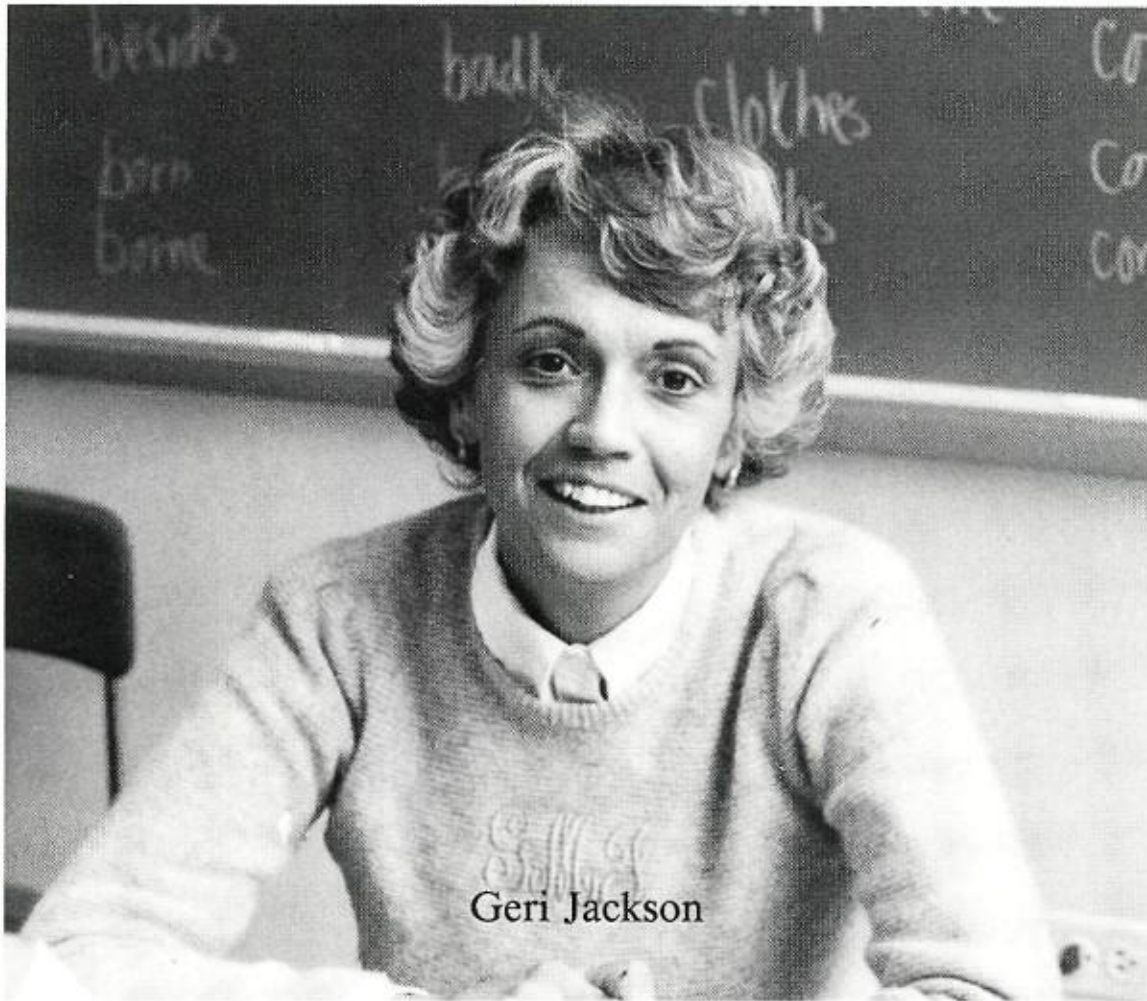

A lot can be learned from today's kids. A class means more than a grade or a credit. It's challenging, sharing, understanding, disagreeing, listening . . . It becomes a part of them, for the rest of their lives.

During our years in school, the mathematics department curriculum became more suitable to our changing needs. It acquired a new computer system, and courses in computer literacy were being offered. During the 1980-1981 school year, NH established an affiliation with the University of Pittsburgh. By taking those courses, students earned college credits while they were still in high school. To develop the individual student's abilities, the math department divided its courses into liberal arts (LA) and science and engineering (SE), thus the students were able to find a level consistent with their needs. While general math and calculus formed the extremes of the math spectrum, few students were left unaffected by the arrival of the Computer Age.

The science department has experienced few staff and curriculum changes in the past few years. Choices for students ranged from unified science for freshmen to advanced placement classes for upper classmen. Laboratory work was used to give the students first hand experience in biology, chemistry, and physics. Astronomy students were given the opportunity to observe star constellations from the planetarium. Although few changes were evident during the school year, a seemingly prevailing concern among teachers was the effect that the hilltop restructuring would have on the science curriculum.

Department coordinator Mr. David Hoza and his colleagues felt that Social Studies was a lot more than just history. As one teacher commented,

As technology progressed, the business department did likewise. Director Mr. Art Pattini was especially proud of the word and data processing machines made available to interested students. The department, however, was not solely for those aimed toward the business world. The nine dedicated teachers involved hoped to provide a sound base for any individual with courses such as personal typing and money credit management. Overall, the few faculty members continued to teach at above average level with occasional boosts from scientific accomplishments. The distributive education department sponsored a store in the senior building and also gave students the opportunity to participate in various competitions. Students from the industrial arts courses displayed their projects at the Northway Mall. As seniors, many students got to know Mrs. Norma Mountain in the Career Resource Center where they could explore various college and career options.

According to Mr. Ernest Molnar, coordinator of the foreign language department the 1982-83 student body was generally more prepared for the future, more dedicated and interested in creating new challenges. His department included courses in Spanish, French, Latin and German. Teachers in the reading department concentrated on only one language, in trying to build speech and develop comprehension skills. The special education program involved much individualization, but students were usually mainstreamed into the regular hilltop environment. The librarians were often helpful in aiding students in making selections for school projects and personal enjoyment. The six counselors had various duties but generally tried to keep our spirits up and our schedules straight.

The physical education teachers comprised one department with which all students were involved. Experiences included swimming, aerobics, gymnastics and co-ed volleyball. As seniors, we were also given the chance to be certified in administering CPR. Drivers education was a course which a large number of students elected to take. The driver's education instructor followed a three phase approach to the course involving theory, simulation and behind-the-wheel driving. Still another group of personnel with which the students were associated was the nurses. These women could always be depended upon in cases of either slight or serious injury.

The Speech Arts department gave students the opportunity to express their creativity in classes involving television production, radio programming, mime, theater, and persuasive speaking. The art instructors worked with a different sort of communication in teaching crafts, film making, pottery, photography and studio art. Musically inclined students enjoyed experiences in the various bands and choruses. Other electives involved home economics where students could form the basis for a vocation or simply sharpen domestic skills. Students usually did meet with the paraprofessionals on a daily basis but these personnel provided various vital services.

Chiefs Plan Change

The personnel at the administration level also experienced a few changes. Mr. Maddox Stokes was reinstated as Coordinating Principal where his duties included organizing activities and establishing schedules. Dr. Gerard Longo was promoted to the position of Director of Secondary Education. As Superintendent, Dr. Joshua Geller worked with the school board, planned the budget and supervised the development of curriculum. He was largely responsible for the consortium program whereby students were able to earn credit from the University of Pittsburgh for courses taken at North Hills. Long-range planning, pupil personnel services and testing programs were handled by Assistant Superintendent Dr. Dale McDonald. Sandy Dobler, Coordinator of Communications, was responsible for the community newsletter, "Our Schools." The school board made policy decisions, approved personnel changes and passed the budget, but their most controversial task for the 1982-83 year was the district-wide reorganization project. Senior Dave Dean was the student representative on the school board.

Change Affects Hierarchy

A few changes were made within the house principals ranks for the 1982-83 school year. Mr. Anthony Venditto replaced Mr. Stokes as A-G house principal. Dr. Karen Cercone became the first female hilltop principal when she assumed control of H-N students. Mr. Robert Adams retained his position as principal in the O-Z office.

The House principals were responsible for student affairs in which capacity they were able to develop many friendships with the students they supervised. The secretaries obligations were numerous with their work requiring efficiency, patience and an understanding of human nature.

Remembered Joys Are Never Past

"Hold onto sixteen as long as you can, changes come around real soon make us women and men." The preceding quote, taken from John Cougar's popular song "Jack and Diane," expressed the feelings we had as Juniors who wanted to change, but couldn't let go of the memories. We looked back on the fun we shared with each other, the many events we had been a part of, and all the friends we had made. We remembered our very first day on the hilltop, which seemed so long ago, ring day, and all the thoughts we had about being able to drive. With all those things behind us, we were ready to change.

In our Junior year, we were no longer the "little kids;" we received the special title of upperclassman. As Juniors, we hoped as we grew and changed into adults it would make up for our lost memories. We looked forward to the Junior prom, senior pictures, and becoming part of new clubs and organizations. As those events became a part of our past, we looked forward to our immediate future, senior year, with optimism, but we were also sad to see our last year at North Hills approaching.

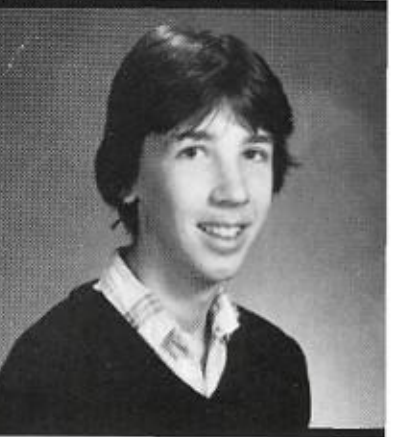

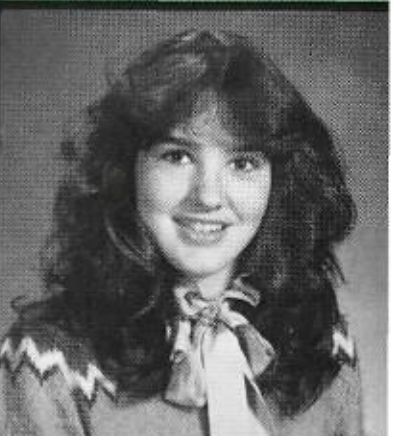

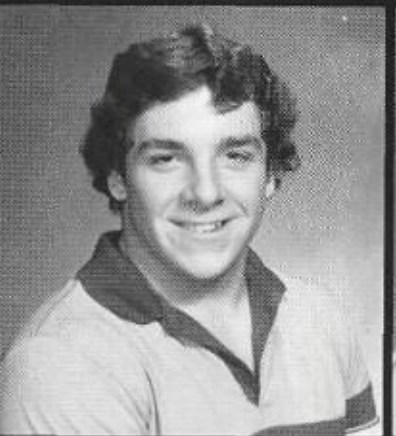

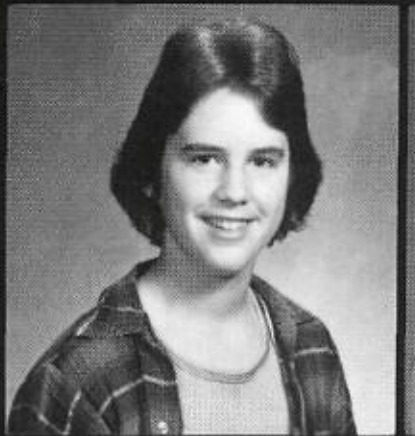

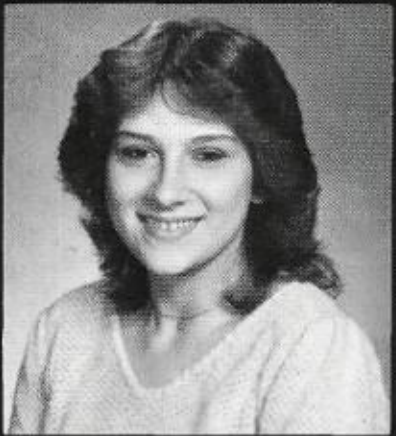

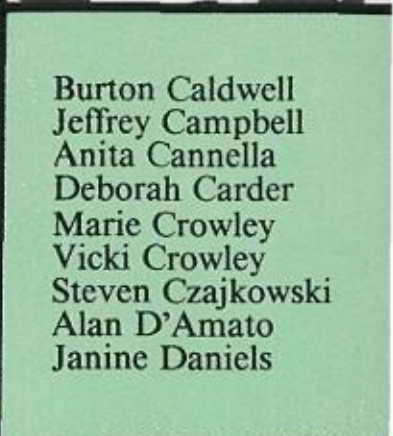

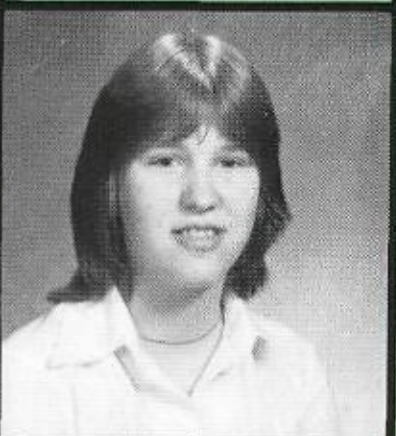

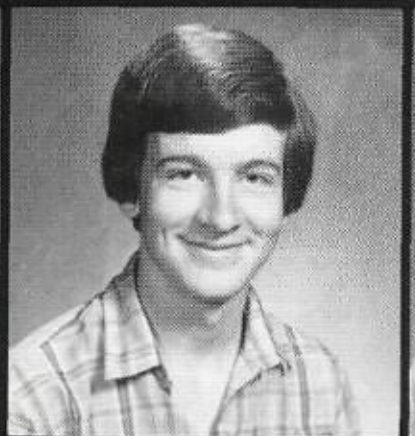

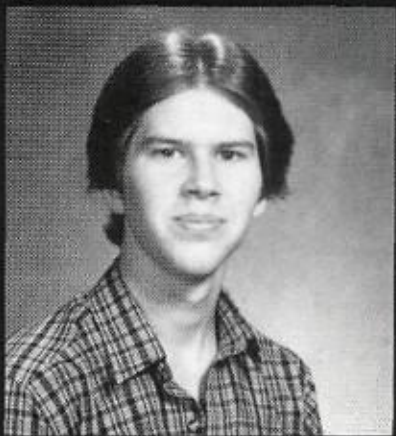

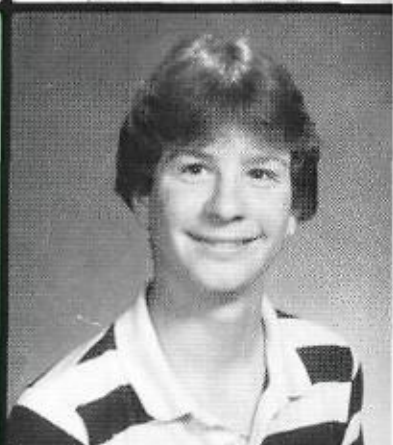

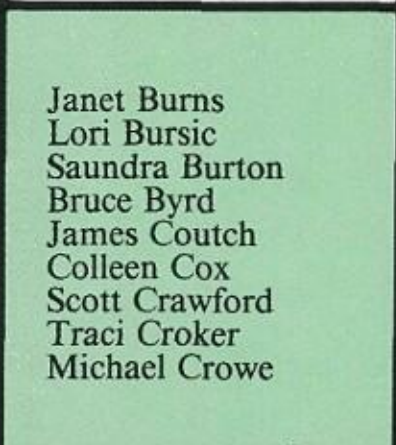

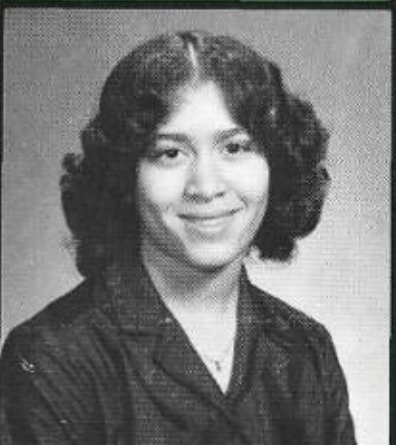

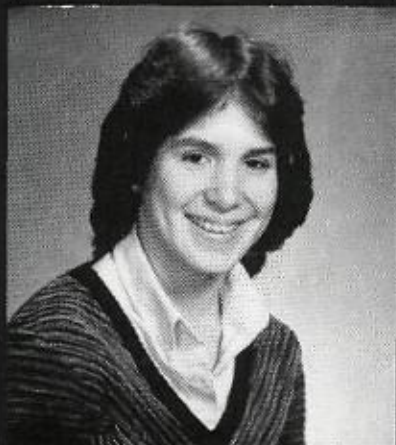

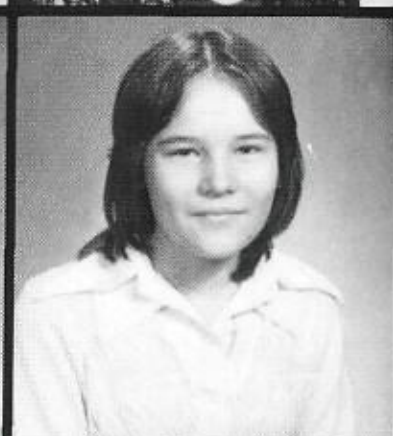

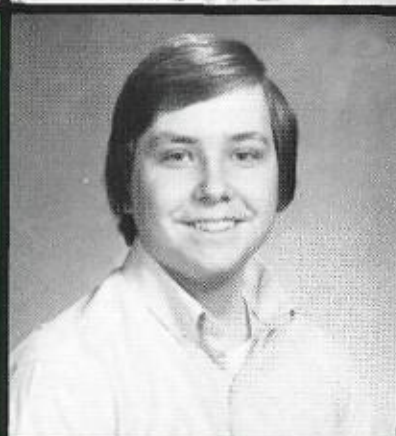

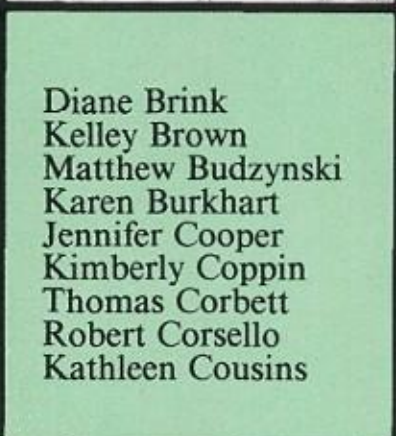

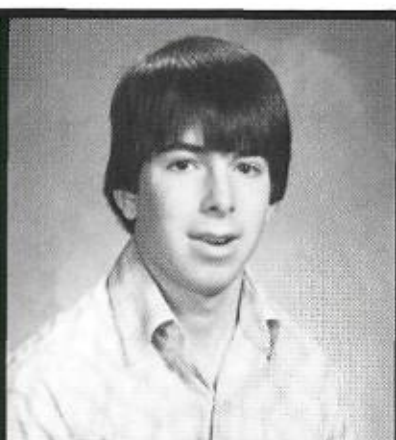

Our Junior year was a time of change and growth. As Juniors, however, we could not let the changes overshadow the three wonderful years we had spent on the hilltop.

Spirit Lasting a Week . . .

October 25, 1982 began an enjoyable week at North Hills, especially for Seniors. Never before had such mass unity been achieved among such a diversity of independent young adults. Monday attire included a hat and T-shirt. Tuesday gave everyone the chance to fulfill the role of their hero as Movie Star Day was celebrated. The week became more enjoyable as the days went by and Masquerade Day entered the scene. Thursday brought the pleasure of seeing classmates

Friends gathered around to reminisce about the wonderful years spent together at North Hills . . . and the week came to a climatic end as seniors united to celebrate their special day dressed in maroon and gold - Senior Day!

Super Seniors Celebrate

"SENIORS are #1!" Such was the cry that echoed through the maroon and gold halls on October 29, 1982. Bobbing beanies and mesmeric mums were worn by proud seniors who walked through the halls as underclassmen weaseled by. Senior day was characterized by an unanticipated calmness, yet was an awesomely joyful day, ending with the presentation of the comical senior skits. That night brought the Indians a glorious football victory. Kathy Katasanow, representing the band, was crowned as the 1982 Homecoming Queen. The first runner up was Cheryl Bailey of AM Beattie Tech, and the second runner-up was Joyce Von Vreckin of the Outdoors Club.

The winning float, The Starship Enterprise, was constructed by the band and exhibited the theme of movies. October 29, 1982 was a day that will always be remembered. Talent, time and effort contributed to the happiness of this successful day, honoring the greatest class that ever was - NHHS SENIOR CLASS OF 1983!

Picture yourself leaning on the rail of a luxuriously decorated riverboat, surrounded by all the traditional decor of early Mississippi River days. This was the pleasure seniors experienced on their Senior Dinner Dance cruise. Seniors decided to break away from tradition by choosing to have their annual Dinner Dance on the Gateway Clipper Party Liner on November 10, 1982. The glass-enclosed ballroom, a savory buffet dinner, and euphonious disc jockey music topped the evening, and made it one which will surely be pleasantly recollected.

Sweet Smells of Friendship

The carnation sale was again held for Valentine's Day. The flowers, accompanied by messages, were distributed in homeroom on the morning of February 14th. Not even this well-established tradition could quite escape inflation, however, as the price for a flower and message card rose to $1.00. The entire sale was sponsored by the chorus as they worked to raise money for their trip to Quebec.

Change is one of the few constants in life. The seasons change, number one teams change, types of music change, styles change, attitudes change, and people change. As ninth and tenth graders during the 1982-83 school we certainly did change.

The most noticeable change was that we advanced a year in school. Sophomores became the older people in the Morrone

Building, while freshmen, lost their status from the previous year, going from junior high elders to an "inferior" position on the Hilltop.

The changes which affected us were of three different types - academic, social and physical. The first was not as obvious as the latter two. Our classes were more challenging and greater demands were made on our "free" time. Teachers talked more often in class while giving us fewer worksheets to complete. Homework played a larger part in our nine-week and final grades. We had been given more responsibility than we had ever known in earlier grades and the choice between success or failure belonged to us.

Social changes were much easier to see. As sophomores, we applied and tested for drivers' licenses. We also started looking for jobs to pay for gasoline to put into the cars we learned to drive. With the possession of a license, dating became a must. We were also permitted, in many cases, to stay out later. Freshmen entered a different world from the one they knew in junior high. Some became friends with upperclassmen and began socializing with new groups. Others found that their social lives took place only in school but they felt older and better accepted anyway. Romantic interests grew even if dating was still difficult.

The change most easily seen was in our physical appearance. Morrone students went through physical changes at such a rapid rate that in some cases we looked different by the end of a school year. Many students returned to school after a summer during which it seemed they had found an entirely new appearance. Overnight, or so it appeared, shapes and sizes were changing.

We may not have realized but change - that concept which people fear the most - was actually progress as we worked our way through the necessary levels of education and growth.

The Sweetness of Christmas

The morning of December 22, 1982 brought sweet surprises to many students as they entered homeroom. The annual candy cane sale, sponsored by student council, was again a big success. Thousands of candy canes were sold and students attached cards with cheerful holiday messages. The profits from the sale were sent to Children's Hospital.

Looking the Best We Can

One of the most changeable aspects of high school life revolved around fashion. Both girls and guys used fashion to express their personality and establish an identity. Yet, for some, this identity was set forth in a more profound manner. One could always distinguish the "prep" from the boy or girl who dressed "punk", for example. In many instances, clothing was also used to express a mood, such as confidence or excitement. Often, an accessory was an inexpensive way to "dress up" an old outfit. This could be a hat, a wide belt, a pair of boots or a pair of the newest items, leg warmers. Leg warmers became a popular trend perhaps because they could be both practical and creative. Clearly the variety of people at North Hills High School displayed diversity in their clothing.

Senior Spirit Put to the Test!

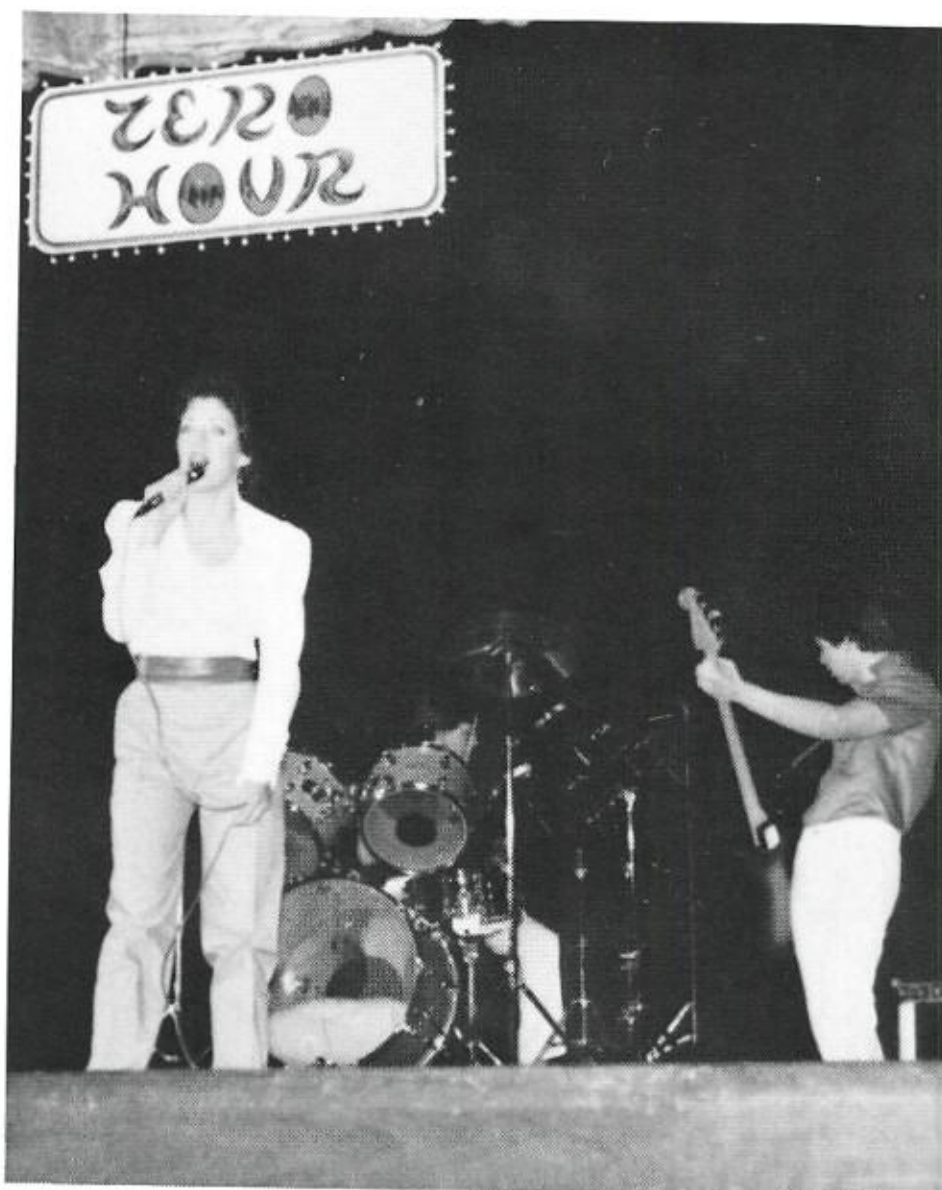

Basketball talent at North Hills was not limited to the Boy's Varsity squad. While the boy's team was working toward yet another victory, a group of determined seniors took to the court in the annual Donkey Basketball Game. That you don't know much about basketball to participate became obvious after the first few minutes of the game. As organized by the Instrumental Parents Association, this year's showcase included the Band vs. the Chorus, Student Council vs. the Cheerleaders, the Harlem Donkeytrotters vs. the Hooligans, and the Kill-the-whales-save -the-donkeys vs. the Botchkis. Though the donkeys were not always cooperative, the event was a success because, as one participant noted, "It's as much fun to watch as it is to play".

In our eighteen years of life,
twelve of those years spent in school,
we have changed greatly.
Of course we have grown a little in size and changed in appearance since that first day at school;
but more important than that,
we have matured.

Remember that first day of grade school, junior high school, and high school?
Remember the problems and anxieties we had then?
Can you recall that first school dance,
that first speech in class,
the first date, those SAT's,
and all of those endless forms,
standardized tests, job applications and college questionnaires?
We took all of those years in stride
and we made it, Seniors.

NOW, we look toward a future filled with college, jobs, the draft, marriage, and all of the responsibilities of an adult in this dynamic society.
We have proved that we are flexible to change and will not break under stress, but bend and move forward to whatever may come.
Now, as seniors, we have finally realized that
* "Things don't change, we change!"

Soc(k) it to 'em

The 1982-83 boys varsity soccer team finished the season with an impressive 11-6-1 record. Although the Indians actually won thirteen games, two matches had to be forfeited. Season highlights included a victory over powerful Moon, the team that eventually won the section. North Allegheny was knocked out of the playoffs when they were defeated by the Indians in the final game of the year. But, for Coach Sal Marsico, captains Brian Aquadro, Gordon Collins and John Rich, and the rest of the varsity players, a winning record was not the only reflection of success this past season. "We had an outstanding group of seniors. A coach couldn't ask for a better group of players, good students, good athletes, hard workers," remarked Coach Marsico. He was equally pleased with the potential demonstrated by underclassman. Next year's team boasts twelve returning letterman, including three sophomore letter winners, and junior Dave Weinerth, who was named to this year's All-W.P.I.A.L. team.

They Pulled Through

Girls Soccer was a new varsity sport this year. They were not expected to do too well as there were inexperienced players. But through the leadership of Coach Dennis Knox and captains Holly Hannon and Bobbi Cervas, they pulled through with a 3-12 record. Toward the end of the season, the team pulled together its strong defense and quick running to beat NA, North Hills' rival. Holly Hannon, a player on the section all-star team, helped the team by scoring a team-high five goals throughout the season to set this year's record. Next year the team hopes to do better as they will have many returning starters and more experience. They will be losing good players, but should still have a good starting core.

Set . . .

The girls volleyball team completed the 1982 season with a 5-7 record, an improvement over the 1981 season. The girls put in a lot of practice during August and three times a week after school began. They played their best and fought hard against all of their opponents. Mr. Brown believed this year's team differed from those he had coached in the past in that the girls were more skilled, worked together better and had an overall better attitude toward the sport. This year's senior members included captain Judi Dum, captain Karen Delfine, Kathy Keller, and Laura Gaugler. The leading performers were Karen Delfine who was named best setter at N.H., Judi Dum as best spiker at N.H. and tournament M.V.P. at Keystone Oaks, and Lynda Leach who made the all tournament team. Although they didn't make the playoffs in 1982, Mr. Brown had a bright outlook for the following year. With four returning starters, he hopes to be a contender in 1983.

Ahead of the Pack

The North Hills Boys Cross Country Team had a winning season. Of their five losses, four were to teams ranked in the top seven. Under John Wilkie's coaching, the team qualified for the WPIAL finals and finished 13th out of sixty-five.

Of the dedicated runners who started running between five and fifteen miles a day in June 1982, five received letters. They were freshman Glenn Ford, sophomores Steve Brown and Paul Teasley, and seniors Dave Dean and captain Joel Hoffmeister. Being three year letterwinners, the two seniors contributed much to the team. Glenn Ford broke the North Hills freshman record. An outstanding accomplishment was made by Steve Brown. He qualified for the State Championship and was named top sophomore runner.

Although Coach Wilkie thought the team had the potential for a better season, he was proud that the team reached the finals in spite of their adversities. He believed that Steve Partridge leaving the team and Joel Hoffmeister's broken wrist hurt the team's effort. Coach Wilkie thought the team showed its spirit when it fought through the problems and injuries that hampered its season to finish well in the WPIAL Finals.

Impressive Season Leads to . . .

"This year we did not have a great deal of depth, this hurt us in the WPIAL's," commented Coach John Wilkie with regard to the Girls Cross Country team. Captain Colleen Quinn was out for several meets with an injury. Although she was greatly missed, the girls compiled an impressive 9-1 record.

For the fourth consecutive year, the North Hills girls won the WPIAL Northern Championship Title. This year the win was especially gratifying since the girls took revenge on arch rival North Allegheny, the only team able to defeat them during the regular season. Although the girls did not qualify for state competition, they finished fourth overall in the WPIAL.

Sophomore Diana Lapp had an impressive season that was highlighted by setting a new school record. Despite the loss of senior Colleen Quinn, the Indians are returning a strong team and next year hope to be back at the top of the WPIAL.

"The Sweetest" on the Courts

Coach Zaletski said that he looked forward to coaching every year, and the 1982-83 girl's tennis team was "the sweetest, most coachable group of kids" he could remember. In a building year with many young, inexperienced players, the girls were able to pull together and work as a team. They managed five hours of practice daily during August and two hours after school every day despite other activities that demanded their time. Of the three senior players on the team, Jean DiDonato and Andrea Peaslee were three year letter winners, and Noelle Rock was a two year letter winner.

Although the team lacked a dominant player, the strength of their doubles play helped them to compile a 5-7 record against very tough opponents. Having gained in skill and experience, the Indians had great potential for success for the following year.

For The Second Year in a Row

She Tried - In 1983, the entire school saw a great change in our definition of the typical hockey player as Catherina Quiblier became the first female to try out for the team. Although she later quit, Catherina exemplified the changing roles of men and women.

The North Hills Hockey team took a solid footing on the slick ice this year. Led by their captain, Brian Aquadro, and assistant captains, Don Reams and Steve Kasunich, the Skating Indians went on to have a winning season. The key to their success stemmed from their ability to work as a whole. "We don't have any superstars," said member Garth Culham.

Players exhibited their dedication to the sport not only on the ice but also in the great personal expense required to become a member of the Indians. Each player paid $295 just to the team. To that was added the cost of equipment, which ran as high as $500. Ice time is $110 per practice.

Since the team is non-school supported, the players had to find their own ways to raise the needed money, which included selling ads for the yearbook.

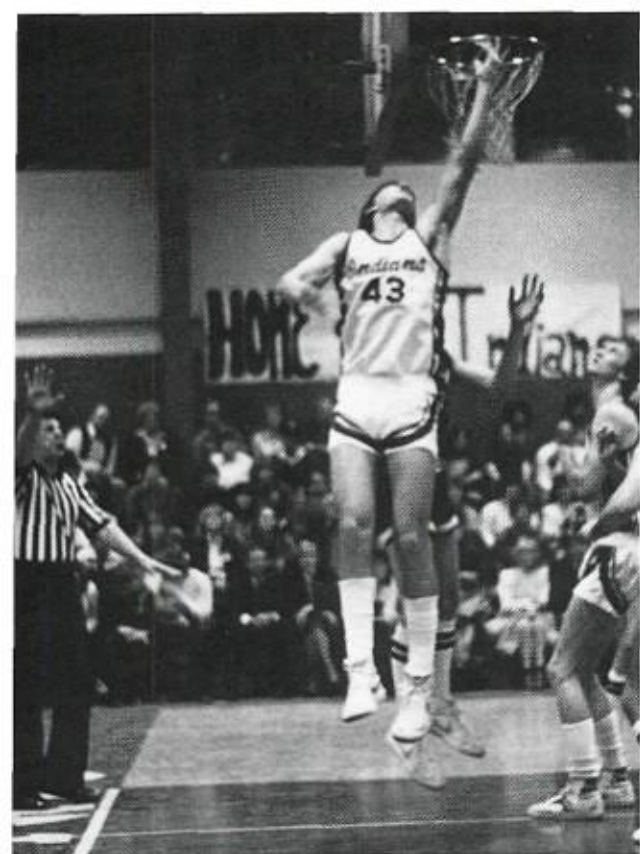

Superstars Abound

At the beginning of the season, North Hills Coach Tom Maloney knew his Indians' boys basketball team would be big and capable of scoring points. After the team's tough exhibition schedule, he commented, "We expect to be good. We feel that we are one of the top ten teams in the WPIAL." Coach Maloney also felt that the team was helped mentally by the championship football team since the enthusiasm of players and fans carried over into basketball season.

One of the highlights of the year was the team's trip to Las Vegas for the Holiday Prep Tournament. After selling countless hoagies to defray the costs of the trip, the team had the opportunity to play three tough teams from across the country. Although they only won one game, the players had an enjoyable experience. The team was more successful in the local sphere, for example at the Peabody Christmas Tournament. They started off by easily beating Baldwin and then went on to win the tournament. Seniors Paul Thomas and Bill Graham, along with sophomore Tom Heubner, were honored by being named to the All Tournament team.

The team did get off to a rocky start as a result of their tough exhibition schedule. Yet Coach

Maloney and Assistant Coach Tom Baier felt that this was beneficial to the players in preparing them for the tough opponents they were to face in the regular season. With four players over six foot five, height was not a problem. Paul Thomas led the team in scoring, averaging over twenty points per game. Forward Bill

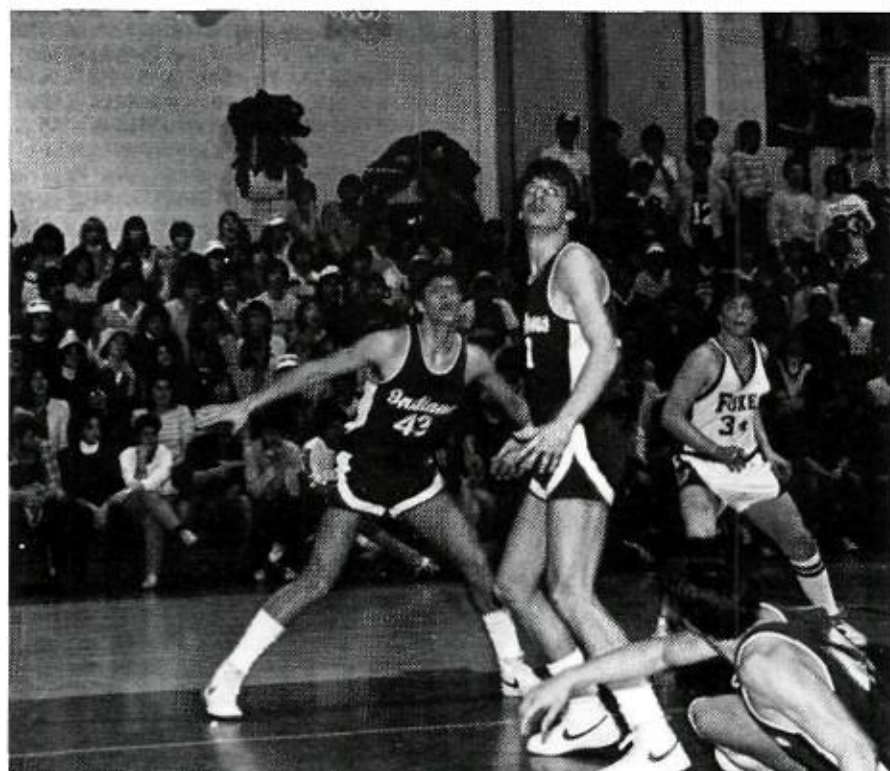

Graham and center Lance Cox also performed well both offensively and defensively. Guard Jim Carmody contributed sharp shooting and aggressive defensive play. The coaches could also rely on consistent play from the boys off the bench. They won nine of their first ten regular season games. The loss was to Shaler whom they went on to beat at home in overtime later in the season. Fans who followed the 1982-83 boys basketball team consistently enjoyed exciting games as a result of a balance of strong teamwork and outstanding performances from a very talented group.

"The girls had a great attitude and really worked hard," according to Coach Floyd. The 1983 Girls Basketball Team certainly pulled together and managed to have a winning season despite plaguing injuries and a realigned schedule. With four very talented seniors, the girls rebounded their way to spectacular victories over Penn Hills and arch-rival North Allegheny. Two girls, Judy Dum and Kathy Keller, were two year letter winners; seven other junior and senior players were awarded letters. Along with assistant coach Dennis Papalia, Coach Floyd and his dynamic dribblers were successful against the new opponents they faced, despite a disappointing four-point loss to Newcastle. The coaches also looked forward to another appearance in post-season play.

Red Rage (W)raps Opponents

The 1983 North Hills Wrestling team, under the coaching of Mr. Roy Phillis, had a very successful season. Faced with a shortage of coaches, the team captains, Jeff Esswein, Dale Christopher and Steve Drozda, took on extra responsibilities. Through hard work and determination, the members built a good, strong team.

As the team headed for the playoffs, their hopes were high that they would win first or second place in section II. The big rivals this year were North Allegheny, Shaler and Seneca Valley.

Seniors on the team included: 112 lbs. - Lynn Brainard, 132 lbs. - Dale Christopher, 145 lbs. - Steve Drozda, and 105 lbs. - Jeff Esswein. Underclass grapplers were Mike Brainard, Chris Ferry, Kevin Novax, Matt Schaukowsch and Mike Tongel.

The team did very well in several tournaments. In Oil City, they came in third out of eight teams.

They were tenth out of twenty-eight teams at California State. In the Beaver Local, they were rated second out of twelve teams.

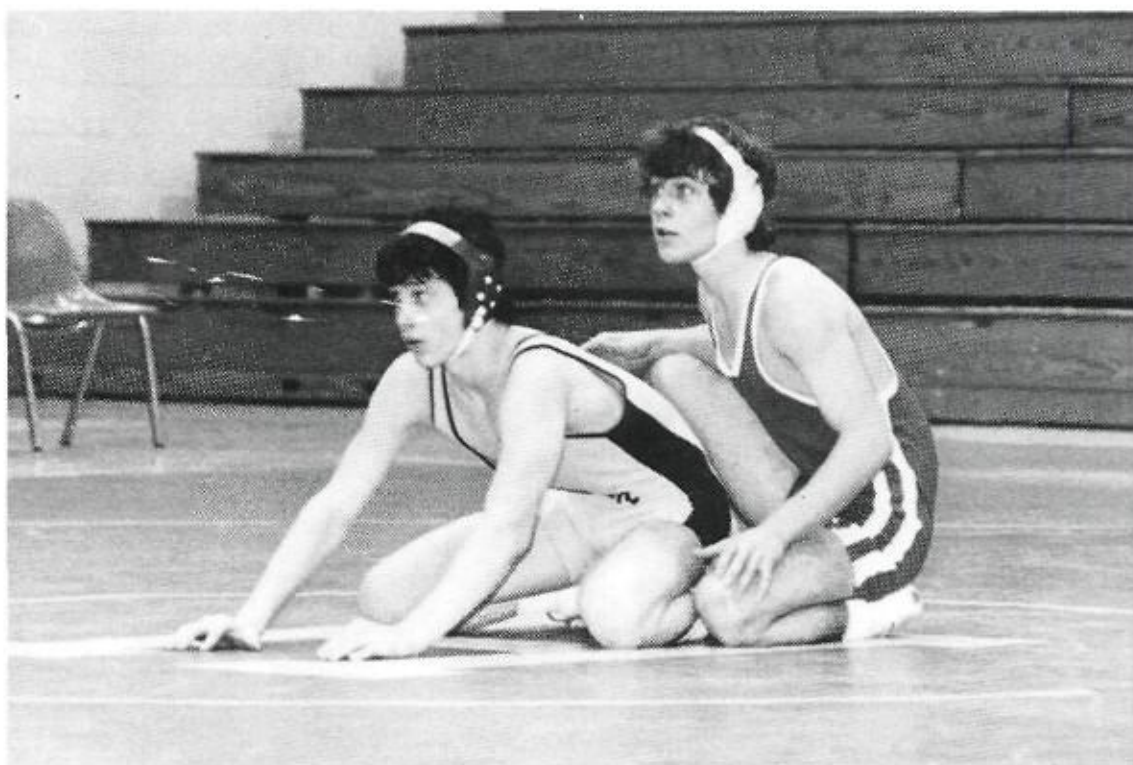

According to Coach Phillis, "This year is made of the most outstanding individuals I've ever Coached."

River Rats. . .

Discipline is coming to school at 6:30 in the morning, three days a week, in the middle of January, to swim laps and lift weights. For the majority of North Hills students, the most strenuous form of early morning exercise consists of stumbling out of bed. Members of the Boys Varsity Swim Team followed slightly different routine, however. Aside from this morning madness, team members practiced every day after school from early fall to late winter. Saturday sessions were not uncommon either.

In addition to the leadership of senior captains Paul Haidet and Glen Teasley, swimmers received direction from Mr. Jack Garrow, who completed his third year of coaching at North Hills. The 1982-83 season pitted the team against strong competition. Despite this, the boys' consistently improving times insured that North Hills would again be represented at the WPIAL championships.

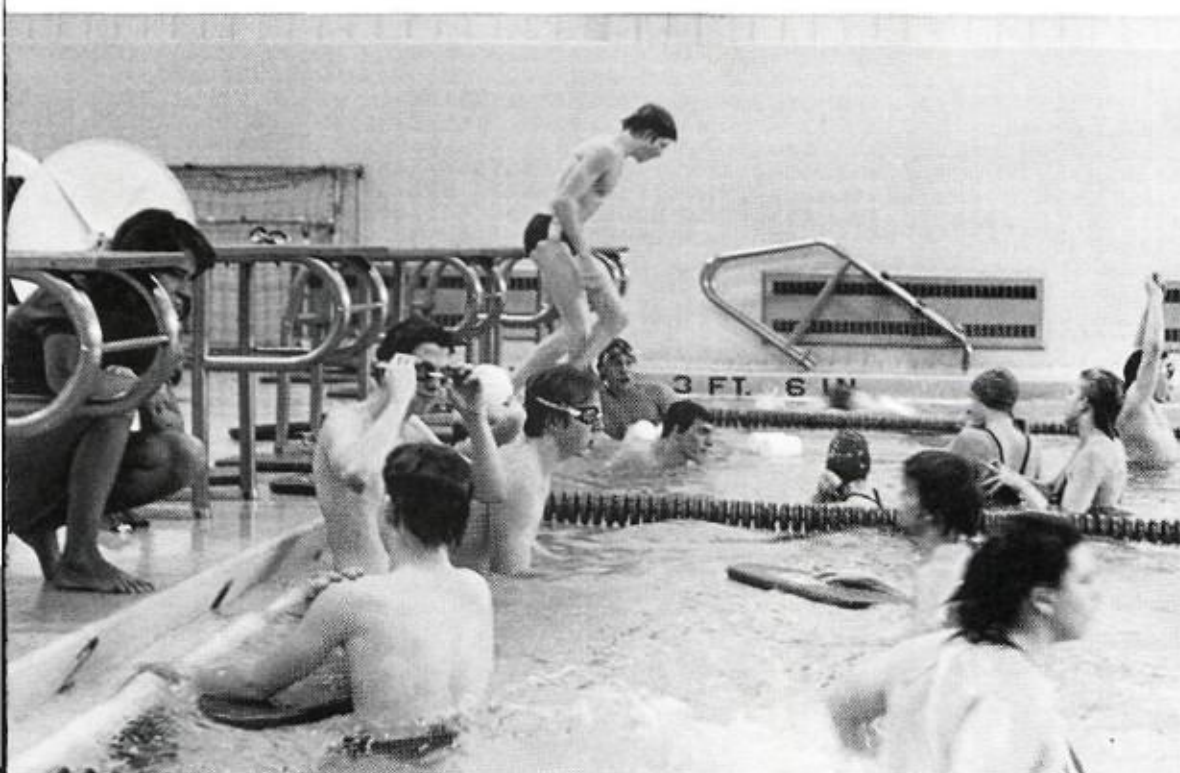

Splashing Women

It would be difficult to find a more dedicated group of North Hills athletes than the Boys' Varsity Swimmers, unless you considered their female counterparts. Led by team captains Kelly Jantho and Julie Schnieder, the Girls' Varsity Swim Team followed an equally rigorous schedule of morning, afternoon, and weekend practices in preparation for their meets. The girls pushed themselves to cut their times by even a fraction of a second. Their efforts paid off, however, in establishing a tradition of Coaches Jack Garrow, Patrick Kennedy, and Sue Harshman hoped to start some new North Hills traditions as well. Encouraged by the success of the recently developed Diving Team, Garrow had plans for establishing a junior varsity swim team for boys and girls.

Indians Face Titan(ic) Challenge

North Hills maintained its position in Section 7 baseball throughout the 1982 season with a 13-6-1 overall record and an 8-3-1 section record. M.V.P. Scott Traynor, an '82 graduate, led the Indians in their thirteen victories. Once again, however, they had to settle for a second place finish behind archrival Shaler.

North Hills put up a tough fight for the section championship, but the Titans were not quite ready to relinquish their title.

"Our main strength was our pitching," commented Coach

Sabina. Bill Hershman was the workhorse of the pitching staff. He and Rich Gavran combined to pitch a no hitter against Butler. Pat Reed, Dave Brammer, Ron Abbott, Mike Partridge, T. J. Edwards, and Eric Hummel played other key roles throughout the year.

The 1983 season looked promising with seasoned players Brad Zewe, Tim Gaertner, Tom Hershman, Tom Gilkey, Rich Gavran, and Paul Thomas returning. The Indians' goal for the 1983 season was to regain the title, and Coach Sabina felt confident that they would be able to do so.

Girls Expect To Regain The Top Section Spot

"Someone will have to be very good to beat us this year" was Coach Papalia's prediction for the 1983 girls softball season. With six returning seniors, it seemed unlikely that he and his free-swinging team could have anything but a spectacular season.

Despite a 12-6 overall record and a 10-2 section record, the 1982 year ended with a disappointing loss to Shaler, costing the girls the section title. They looked forward to 1983 as the year that would put them back on top. With a wide-open team of experienced and enthusiastic players, the squad displayed virtually no weaknesses and looked forward to one of its best seasons ever.

"Youth was one of our major assets," remarked Coach Jerry Mattys of the 1982 North Hills boys tennis team. "We were a young team and the heavy pressure to win just wasn't there, as it would have been if the team had been comprised of seniors." The starting team was made up of five sophomores and two juniors.

The 1982 team, with a final record of 15-4, tied rival N.A. for sections but lost in the playoffs. Besides doing well as a whole, the tennis team had some very outstanding individuals. Brad Hanes, a letter-winner and co-captain, did quite well and placed third in section singles. He teamed up with '82 graduate Gretchen Moran, also an exceptional player, to place first in section 7 mixed-doubles and second in the WPIAL. Jim Yoder and '82 graduate Sue McCalmont also contributed to North Hills' accomplishments by taking second place in section mixed-doubles. Another talented player was co-captain Rich Emmett who doubled with Dave Ross to contribute to a smashing 4-1 victory over N.A.

As Coach Mattys put it, "We have very high goals. We want to win the section and this year we want the WPIAL."

The expectations for the 1983 team were very high. The key people were expected to be Brad Hanes, Jim Yoder, Keith Kamalich and Rich Emmett.

NH Indians Ahead of the Pack

The 1982 Boy's Track team started out with some weak spots as Coach Wentzel cited "lack of depth in some events" but pulled together with the support and leadership of captains Tom Tobin, Angelo Roman, and Jeff Longjohn, all 1982 graduates. The team finished second in section 7 with a record of 5-2. N.A., the toughest opponent and predicted section champ, and gateway were the only schools which managed to squeeze past them. The team advanced to the playoffs with its strength in hurdles and distances, but lost to Butler in the first round. At the state level, Tom Tobin placed first in the 3200 meter run. Coach Wentzel considered this the most memorable moment for him. Vince Sebal placed sixth in the state competition in the high jump. A new school record in the javelin was set by Craig Mergenthaler with a throw of 180 ft. 7 1/2 in. Among the WPIAL qualifiers were Vince Sebal and Steve Partridge.

The team placed third in the Fox Chapel Invitational. Another rewarding event for the athletes and Coaches Wentzel, Shinko, Mullen, Richards, and Wilkie was the defeat of rival Shaler, at Shaler. Overall, Coach Wentzel thought that "the team did an outstanding job-a lot better than what I expected".

Aggressive Athletes

The 1982 girl's track team completed its season with a 6-1 record. They faced a tough schedule and finished second in the section, losing only to North Allegheny. The Indians advanced through the WPIAL qualifiers and were finally defeated by a tough Beaver Falls team. In addition to the girls' success throughout the regular season, they finished seventh in the Fox Chapel Invitational.

The captains who led the team were '82 graduates Cheryl Rau, Becky Dietrich, Sandy Auth, and Diane Karlik. Becky Dietrich won the honor of being chosen the most valuable athlete during the 1982 season. Among the six girls who qualified for the WPIAL finals were Colleen Quinn, Diana Lapp, Holly Hannon, and Jenny Lewis. Coach Wentzel had a great deal of confidence in underclassmen Diana Lapp who was rated among the top runners in the state in the 3200 meter run.

"Working hard after school and on Saturday mornings is what made the team," stated Mr. Shinko, who was the distance coach. He worked with coaches Wentzel, Mullen, and Richard. Prior to the season, Linda Yoest commented on the 1983 team, "There's a lot of energy and aggressivness there, I know we'll do well".

Pride, Talent . . .

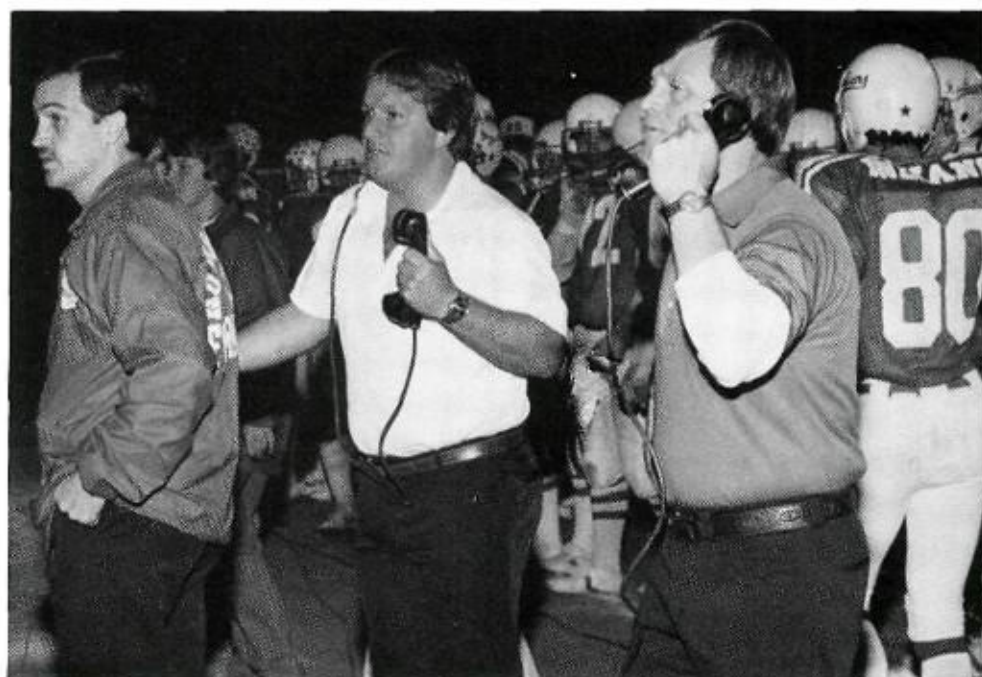

Pride, discipline, and coaching excellence were the hallmarks of the 1982 Indian Football team, and they also proved to be the keys to victory as the team captured the WPIAL Quad A Division 1 Championship crown. "We're not the most talented team," head coach Jack McCurry often stated of his young team, and the Indians began the season shy on experience with but one returning starter from last year's WPIAL Quad A runner-up team. Yet molded and guided by the determined coaching staff, the Indians overcame considerable early season difficulties to win the first football championship in North Hills High Schools' 25 year history. The most successful Indian football squad did not always shine, and when it dropped three of its first five games, many fans had little hope for the season. Things appeared to be working better after a close loss to Butler and a 12-7 loss to Penn Hills in which the

FOOTBALL

Indians played inspired football. The next week against Bethel Park proved to be the turning point of the season, as personnel changes enabled the offense to score 14 points and sparked a revival of classic North Hills defensive might which held Bethel Park scoreless. The team went on to win five of their next six games, including a rematch of last year's championship game with Mt. Lebanon. The streak of victories came to an end with a hard fought loss to the mighty but fated N.A. Tigers in which North Hills scored the only touchdown of the regular season against the #1 Tigers. Under the new WPIAL playoff system which allowed four teams from each of the Quad A divisions to advance to post-season play, North Hills' 6-4 record was good enough to win third place in division one and a playoff berth against #2 Connellsville. The Indians shocked a heavily favored Connellsville team, shutting them out 14-0. Junior Vince Scott had an outstanding day, rambling for 124 yards on 27 carries, while the defense held Connellsville to 58 yards total offense. The rematch against N.A. proved to be one of the highlights of the season, as the Indians ended the Year of the Tiger on a mud filled field in Ambridge. Jim Cassandro scored in the second quarter on a 2-yard touchdown run, and the defense frustrated the potent offense of N.A. as the rain poured down. N.A. kicker Joe Wall booted a fourth quarter field goal and the Tigers had to settle for three total points. At the final gun the Indians had held out, 7-3, and advanced to the finals for the second straight year by recording the biggest upset of the season. The Butler game did not prove anti-climactic, for the team carried over their emotional high and trounced Butler, 9-0. Four years of playoff appearances had finally culminated in the ultimate victory, and it was made even sweeter for Coach McCurry when he was named Coach of the Year for his skills. Through pride and discipline, a team with very few superstars scraped and fought its way to the top by beating the strongest teams in the WPIAL and by relying on stifling defensive play. Next year's team will return a great many of this year's starters, including the entire offensive backfield and they will have an excellent chance of repeating this year's success.

Champions!

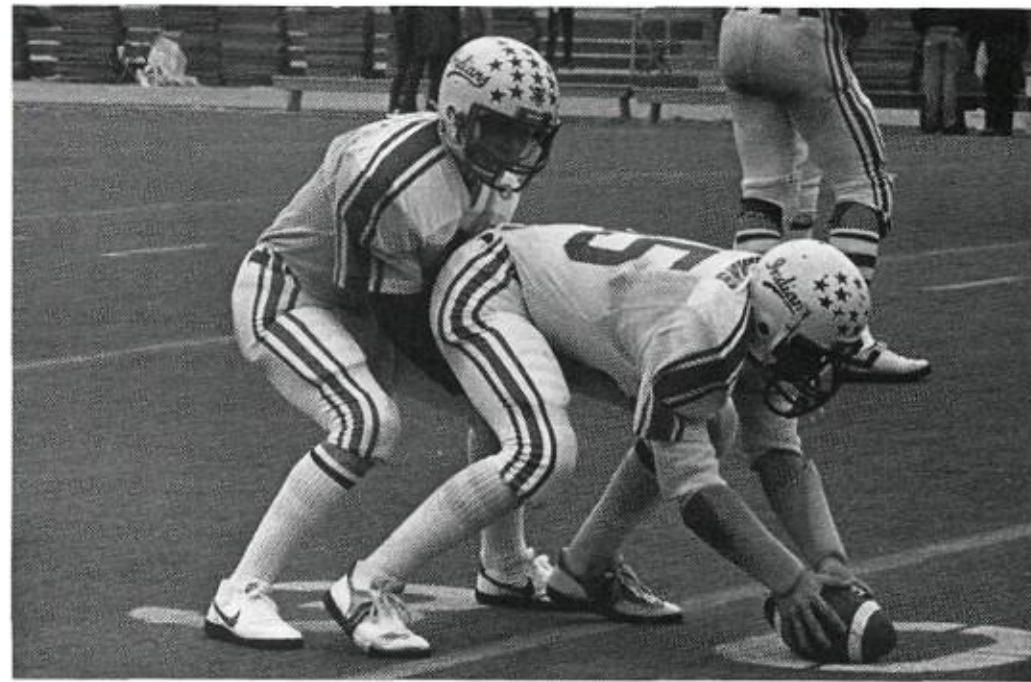

Pitt Stadium was not quite filled to capacity when North Hills met Butler on an icy November 27 to decide the WPIAL Quad A Division I football championship. However, North Hills fans filled the bowl with their cheers of excitement and enthusiasm as they watched the Indians down the Golden Tornado, 9-0, and capture the first football championship in North Hills' twenty-five year history.

The Indians' seventh and most spectacular shutout of the season featured the running of junior Vince Scott and a thoroughly dominant defensive squad which yielded but fifty-five yards total offense and intercepted four Butler passes. Senior Mark Bado began the second quarter touchdown drive by picking off a Butler pass at the North Hills 23. The ensuing seventeen play, seventy-seven yard Indian drive was capped by a one-yard dive by Vince Scott over senior standout Steve Seebacher. Senior Bill Frank failed on the extra point try as his kick sailed wide, but he redeemed himself in the third quarter when he iced the victory with a twenty yard field goal.

The Indian defense, led by end Vince Sebal and guard Tom Gilkey, knocked the wind out of the Golden Tornado offense as head coach Jack McCurry's five year record was raised to 44-12-1. Commented Butler coach Art Bernardi, "Their people just whipped us up front." To Bernardi's credit, the Butler defense had several impressive moments, including a third quarter goal-line stand which shut down the Indians on four straight attempts.

After the final whistle, the jubilant fans swelled onto the artificial surface to congratulate the team. The success of the '82 squad was attributed to collective team pride and discipline, and to the masterful planning of Coach McCurry and Company. For his success, McCurry was honored as Quad A Division I Coach of the Year, while Vince Sebal and Steve Seebacher were named as Conference All-Stars.

The entire young team of '82 with "not the most talent" will long be remembered in the North Hills sports annals.

The world is full of funny people, funny faces, and funny things.
We live in this world to laugh, to cry, and mostly to grow.
Our emotions vary like the ever changing seasons,
From winter to spring, with the rain and the snow.
In this time of changing and growing, we perceive things in different views.
In happiness and sorrow our minds may become somewhat disorted,
But we are always reminded of the world that exists around us.
We live our lives the best that we know how to,
Whether it be in happiness or sorrow, but at least live.

ABRUPT CHANGE HAS SHORT-TERM EFFECT

Activities, sports and jobs played a significant role in our changing personalities. We learned to deal responsibility with pressures and developed a sense of identity. Self-confidence and independence were important, but we still felt the need to turn to others for guidance and encouragement. A growing awareness of our interdependence could not be ignored.

GRADUAL CHANGE HAS LONG-TERM EFFECT

Time and change put long-standing relationships to the test, sometimes resulting in disappointment. Yet, the friendships which survived took on greater meaning. It was the experiences shared with these good friends that made the years so memorable - the parties and proms, football games, the special dates,

The Band of 1982-83 was the band of pride, tradition and excellence. Under the direction of Warren S. Mercer, the band branched off into many directions, including Marching Band, (comprised of the musicians, the flagline, and major-ettes), Symphony Band, and Jazz Ensemble.

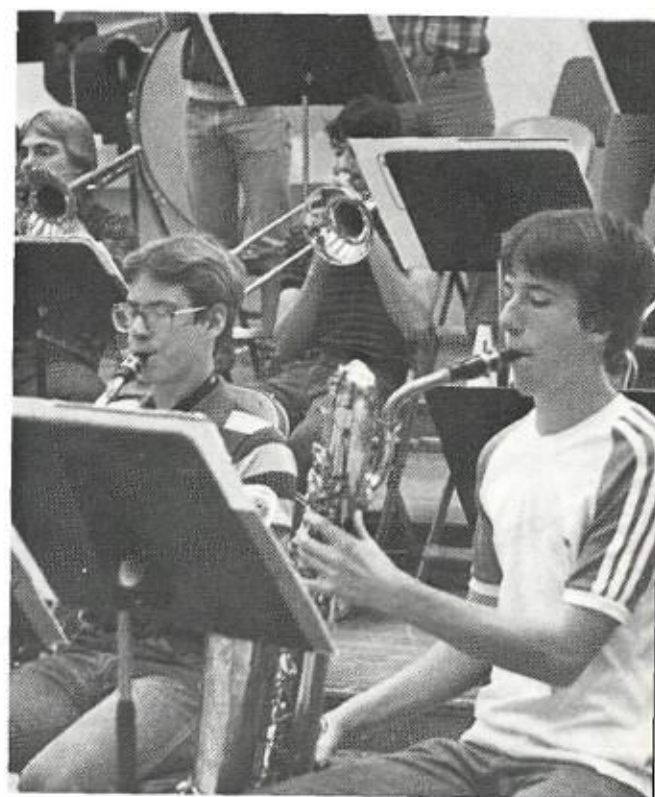

During the year, the Symphony Band members sold countless hoagies, candy bars, band festival tickets, and card party tickets to finance a trip to Chicago for the Mid-West Band Clinic. They also held concerts throughout the year, exhibiting their talents.

Marching Band members played, marched, and twirled their way through the football season. The season extended from summer band practice in mid-June to the last football game in November.

The Class of 1983 Band, led by officers: Drum Major - Bill Hallett; President - Paul Adams; Vice-President - Colleen Quinn; Secretary - Katie Klein; Treasurer - Gretchen Weiss, worked to make the band's year the best ever.

Mr. Mercer, working in his 25th year as a teacher was saluted by the seniors with the motto "This One's for You." All band members contributed to making 1982-83 a year he treasured.

The North Hills Orchestra was made up of talented students who shared a common interest, a love of music. Under the direction of Mr. Fred DelMonte, the students worked together and enriched their musical abilities. President Joe Rztowicz, Vice-President Rachel LaPorte, and Secretary - Treasurer Cathy Ibinson provided leadership for the orchestra.

During the year the North Hills orchestra sent members to various festivals. The festivals included the PMEA District Orchestra, the Regionals and the State Competition. In addition to the festivals, the orchestra provided the strings for the school musical, The Sound of Music.

Cheerleaders' Enthusiasm Thrills Crowds

Linda Meinert, Joanne Blasko, Debbie Chapas, and Beth Ploeger.

"Come on North Hills - we're right behind you!" was an appropriate cheer for the 1982-1983 cheerleading squad. In both victory and defeat the girls were faithful in their support at football, soccer, and girl's and boy's basketball games. Their bright smiles and vibrant enthusiasm always helped to arouse the student body at games and pep assemblies.

The girls sold pretzels, and hoagies to raise money for cheerleading camp at Seton Hill College. The camp, sponsored by the United States Cheerleading Association, lasted for a week and resulted in hard work and special memories. The squad practiced throughout the summer and during the school year to maintain the skills they had developed.

Although the squad decreased in size during the year, sponsors Diana Mangis and Janet Sphar made sure that the girls continued to work together as a unit. They were aided by manager Janet Szczublewski. Leadership responsibilities were shared by captains Linda Meinert and Beth Ploeger and co-captains Joanne Blasko and Debbie Chapas.

The 1982-1983 version of the North Hills Choir was, as usual, a tightly knit group of people who strove for excellence and enjoyed singing and having a good time. The "laid-back" attitude of this year's choir was a welcome change. It contributed to the success of the Symphonic Choir in addition to Mixed Ensemble, Jazz Ensemble, and Bell Choir.

Work on the Christmas concert started back in September and choir members found they memorized more Christmas music than they had in many years, including several pieces from Handel's "Messiah". All the hard work paid off, however, as many people who attended the December 18 and 19 concerts can attest.

Bigger plans seemed to be in bloom after the Christmas break. The choir immediately planned for its presentation with the Pittsburgh Symphony of "Noye's Flud" (Noah's Flood) at Heinz Hall on January 15. The choir considered this a great honor to be chosen to perform with such a great orchestra.

After that successful venture, the choir began to prepare music for its trip to Quebec City in Canada. Of course, the choir's director, Mr. Frank Cummings, made sure everyone was excited and ready for the five day trip spanning March 26-30. Seniors, especially, hoped to bring back their third First Place trophy in three years at Quebec's music festival. Of course, along with any trip comes money and fund-raising, and this was no exception. Everything from posters to cheese to doughnuts was sold over the course of the year, but the choir members always did it with a smile.

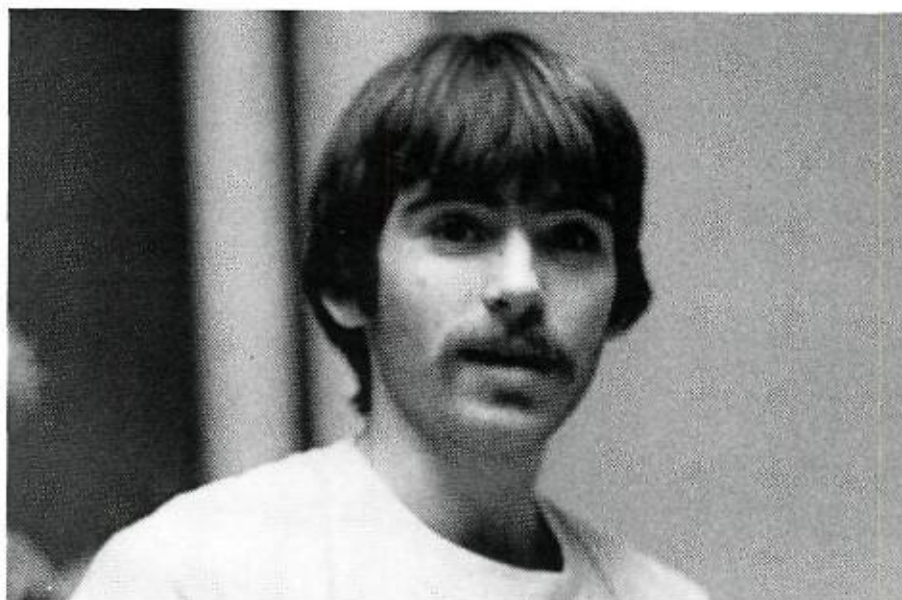

All choir members looked back on the whole year, with the concerts, social events, friendships, and especially the trip, with pride and happiness. They enjoyed the experience and would not soon forget the fun and togetherness they shared with each other.

DECA: Experiencing the World of Business

Distributive Education Clubs of America played a prominent part in the lives of many North Hills students. It was a co-curricular club, sponsored by Miss Arthurs, that allowed the students to compete with other districts. This competition included the fields of marketing, retailing, wholesaling, insurance, transportation and finance.

In the 1982-1983 school year, DECA introduced and Alumni Chapter to its program. Though this addition, former DECA members were invited to share experiences with present members.

Senior officers of the club, Tracy Armstrong, President; Vicky Heilman, Vice-President; Pam Cavola, Secretary; and Kurt Kiser, Treasurer worked to organize a more successful DECA program.

Filmclub Takes on National Prestige

A handful of students explored an ever-expanding field as members of the Filmmaking Club. The club, sponsored by Mr. Langer, was open to students in grades nine through twelve. Some students were interested in filmmaking as a career option, but most considered it a hobby. They usually met every Thursday. Members used their creativity to produce their own films, in which various special effects techniques were exhibited.

Field trips included a tour at WQED and a visit to Oakland for the filming of "Flash Dancing" by Paramount Pictures. The club was honored with a first place award from Cinemagic New York School of Visual Arts Film Search for its production, "An American Werewolf in High School." This film, "Dirty Deeds" and "Bandits of the Future," were recognized nationally as three of the top five films in the motion picture division of the Motion Picture Society of American competition.

During the 1982-1983 school year, the Health Careers Club expanded to include more activities and more members. Under the leadership of school nurse Mrs. Holler the club helped students to explore careers in various medical fields. Members met in the mornings to plan for upcoming activities.

They toured area hospitals and were able to look at various laboratory facilities. The officers hoped to arrange opportunities to view both an autopsy and open-heart surgery. One field trip involved an entire day, for which members were permitted to miss school. Speakers, including a paramedic, met with students to discuss career options and first-hand experiences. Films concerning various topics, were shown for interested members.

The officers worked to organize activities and to stimulate the interest of the club's members. These officers were president Terri Scherer, secretary-treasurer Holly Hughes, and vice-president April Baumbach who would take over as president for the following year.

Theatre: Top Productions Stem From Top Talent

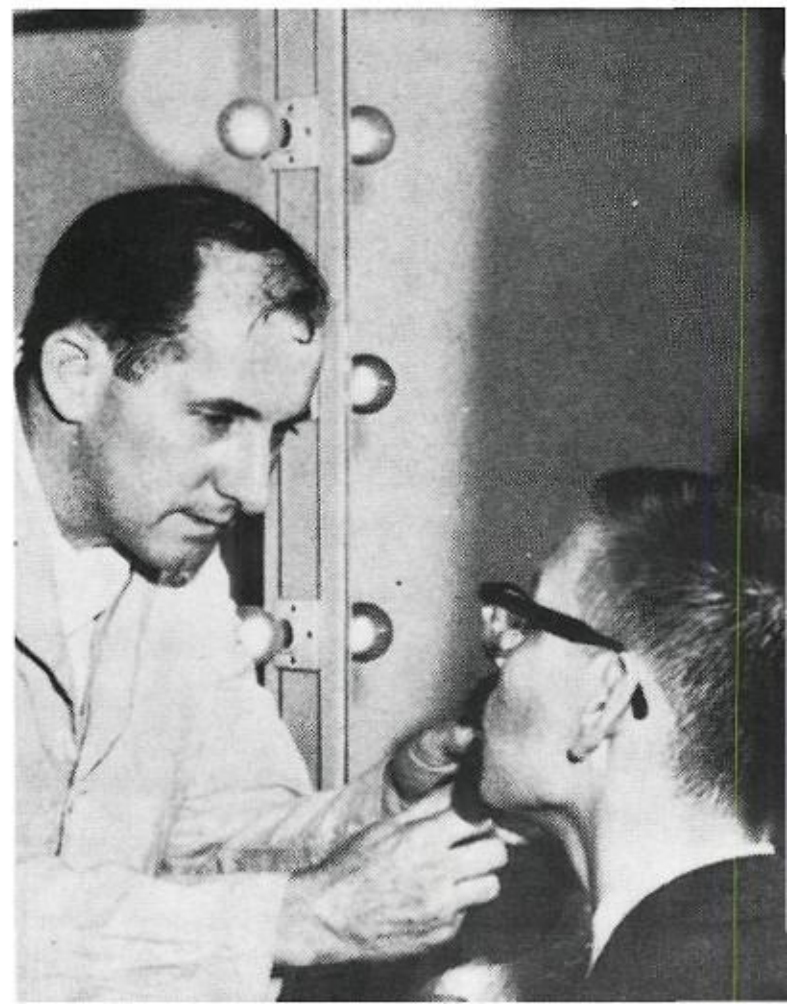

The North Hills Theater Department completed another year of successful performances. The 1982 spring play was "The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie." The 1982 fall play, "Mary of Scotland" boasted a fine cast with many seniors playing major roles. For the first time in three years, the department decided to present a musical for the spring performance of 1983. They chose "The Sound of Music," feeling confident of the musical and acting talent of the students. An advantage to such a tremendous undertaking was that a large portion of the student body experienced the satisfaction of being involved in the production.

C.A.S.T., Creative Arts for Students of Theatre, was the branch of forensics comprised of participants in the fall and spring plays, children's theater and mime. Membership was attained by those with roles in a production, in addition to students who worked "behind-the-scenes." These all-important back stage students worked in the areas of set construction, props, lighting, sound effects, costuming, make-up, publicity and ushering. The mime troupe visited grade schools and small community groups.

Each student with one hundred hours of excellent hours in theater was honored with the title of Thespian. The International Thespian Troupe #908 at North Hills was the National Honor Society of theater. The president of this organization was senior Debbie O'Brien.

"We have won the Pennsylvania High School Speech League District 2 trophy ten out of the last eleven years and hopefully we will win again this year," said Mrs. Peggy Ann Madden, Director of the speech division of forensics. Members of the forensic society, led by President Ami Waldschmidt, competed in many tournaments throughout the year to attain this goal.

One division of forensics, speech, was directed by Mrs. Madden and Mrs. Linda Brown, with Terri Erdner serving as chairperson. Students competed in impromptu, student congress, original oratory, extemp, dramatic, and oral interpretation.

The debate team was under the direction of Mr. Royce Rice and Mr. Elmer Pohl with Jeff Cambell serving as chairman. The debaters took either the affirmative or negative side of the resolution for the year. Their topic was Resolved: "That the United States should significantly curtail its arms sales to other countries," an issue that was hotly debated. The team participated in many tournaments with the hope of qualifying for nationals.

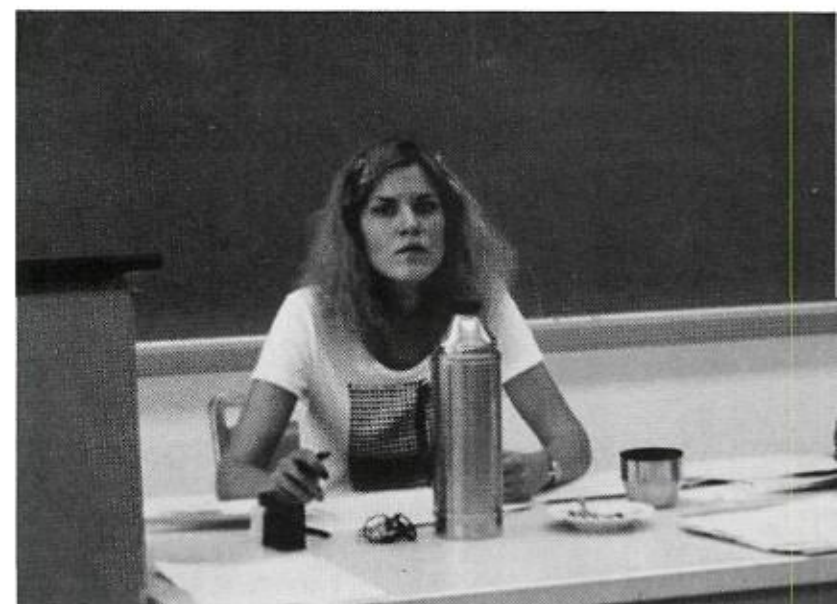

In 1982, the one-act play under the direction of Mr. Glen Ritchey and Mrs. Linda Brown won the District 2 Regionals and competed in the state tournament.

individuals. At the Central Catholic Tournament, Carolyn Norris served as presiding officer and was elected superior speaker. Rob Shema was a finalist in Boys Extemp at the Cincinnati-Princeton High School tournament. At the North Catholic tournament, Ami Waldschmidt was the winner in the Oral Interpretation competition.

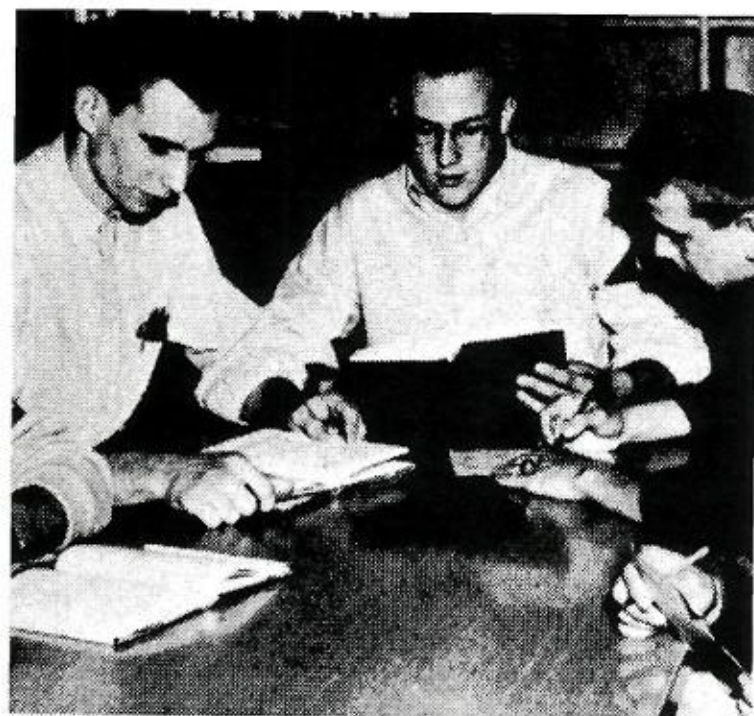

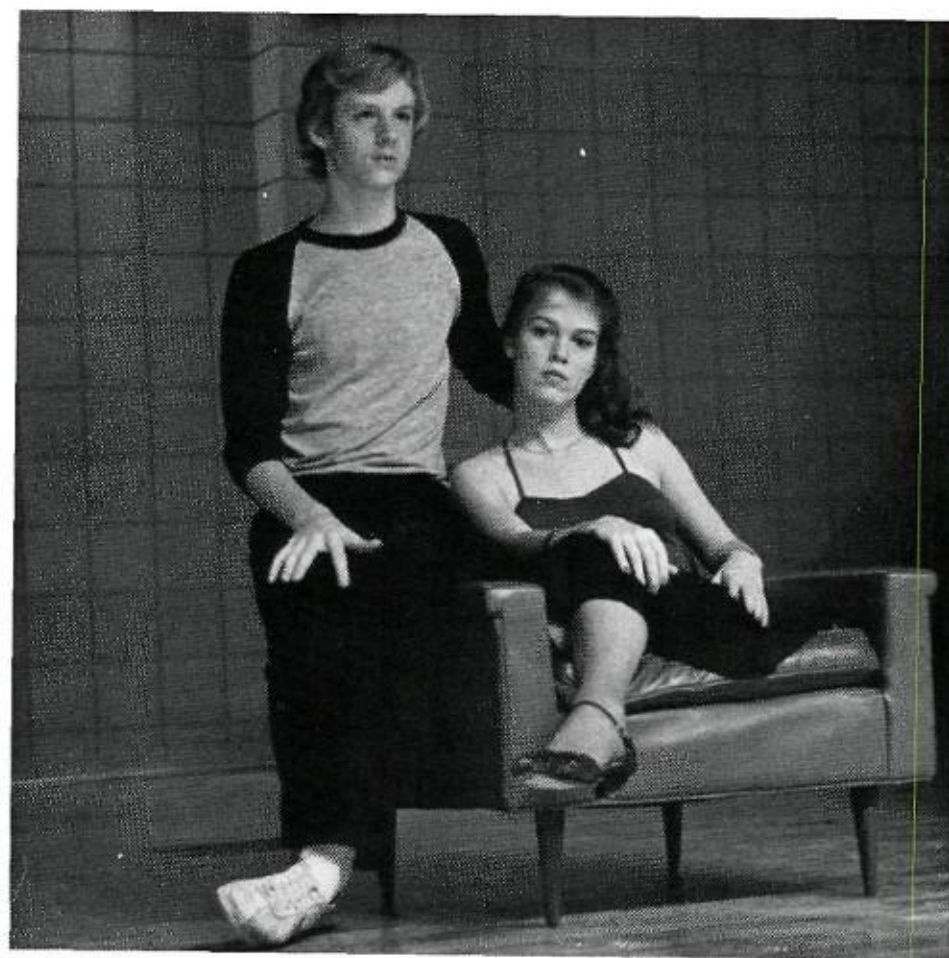

The North Hills Invitational Speech and Debate Tournament, held in February, attracted the largest number of students to a tournament in Western Pennsylvania.

"In the 44 years that North Hills has belonged to the National Forensic League, we have qualified someone for nationals for 32 years. This year we hope to qualify someone for nationals to be held in Kansas City," replied Mrs. Madden.

Keys Work to Unlock the Door to a Better Community

The Keyettes and Key Club combined their efforts to perform activities that benefited the school and community. The club, sponsored by Mrs. Leininger, had approximately two hundred-fifty members. The number of Keyettes exceeded the number of Keys by a four to one ratio.

The organization provided Thanksgiving dinners for the families on welfare in the community. The Keys and Keyettes helped with the donation, transportation, and distribution of the goods.

During the Christmas Season, the club sold North Hills painter hats and donated the proceeds to Children's Hospital. For the needy families in the area, the organization donated and distributed toys and clothes.

The Keyettes and Keys also sponsored and organized two blood banks at the high school for the Pittsburgh Blood Bank. This task involved publicizing the activities, preparing refreshments, transportation equipment, and assisting the Blood Bank personnel.

Students Keep Library in Order

Certainly the quietest group of North Hills students was the Library Aides. Though they were seldom heard, these students performed an important service within the high school. In keeping the library in order the aides made our task as students and Mrs. Persinger's task as Librarian that much easier.

Induction into the National Honor Society was a prestigious reward for North Hills students who excelled in academics. The minimum quality point average for a new member was 3.80 for a sophomore, 3.60 for a junior, and 3.40 for a senior. Yet, membership involved more than just high grades. A second requirement was participation in extracurricular activities. In addition, prospective members were judged by faculty members on the basis of their demonstration of the four fundamental qualities of a National Honor Society member: scholarship, leadership, character and service. Seniors were inducted into the North Hills Chapter of the National Honor Society in January, and another ceremony was conducted late in the year for sophomores and juniors.

Members Work to Make "Society" More Active

The Students comprising the 1982-1983 Chapter were largely an enthusiastic group. They worked to make National Honor Society a more active organization. An example of their involvement was ushering for school functions. During the holiday season a group of members went carolling in order to raise money for the Scholarship Fund. When the school faced the possibility of cancelling the annual Scholarship Talent Show because of the lack of a faculty sponsor, the National Honor Society members offered to sponsor the show collectively. Then, although adult supervision was still required, much of the responsibility for publicity, auditions, programs and rehearsals rested with interested National Honor Society students.

The organization was sponsored by Coordinating Principal Mr. Maddex Stokes who was supportive of the Club's more active role. Officers for the organization were President Brad Dawson, Vice-President Andrea Peaslee, Secretary Kelly Jantho, and Treasurer MaryBeth Bailey.

At the end of each year, students anxiously awaited the arrival of the school yearbook, the Norhian. The Norhian was put together by many dedicated students who spent long hours typing, writing, taking photographs, and performing the many other tasks necessary to the production of the yearbook.

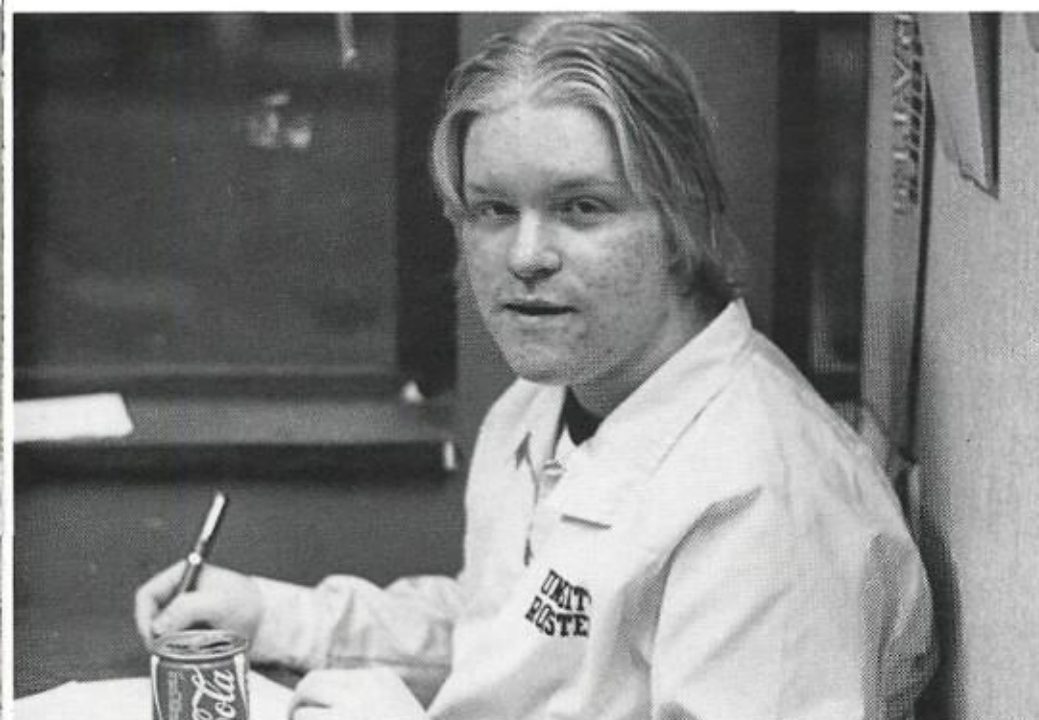

Under the supervision of Mr. Werner, the sponsor, the students collected and collated information to be used in the yearbook. He helped the students to coordinate all the articles and pictures so each year the Senior class had a yearbook which it could forever enjoy.

Year-round Dedication Creates Memories

There were eight staffs with eight or nine editors. The Editor-in-chief was Shelly Mannas and the assistant editor-in-chief was Kathy Cousins.

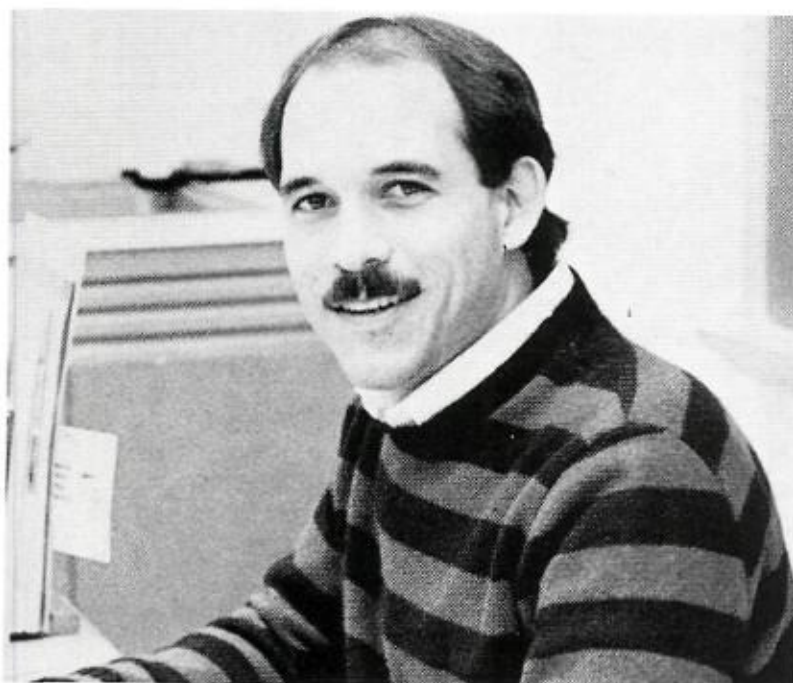

Plans were made in the spring for the following year's book. During the summer, some of the staff attended a workshop at the University of Rochester to learn how to put a yearbook together. The book was published by Hennington Publishing Company. It was sent in stages, and by February 15, the yearbook was completed.

"With each year, putting the book together comes easier," said Mr. Werner. The staff's reward was seeing the pleasure on the student's faces when perusing the book.

OUTDOORS CLUB

Adventuresome Kids

What did North Hills have to offer the adventuresome, slightly insane student? The Outdoors Club was designed to meet the needs of this type of student. Activities included rock climbing, caving, white water rafting, backpacking, cross country skiing and canoeing. The trip to Hermitage Reservation was one of the most memorable, for many traditions were established there. The club became an Explorer's Post making it part of the Boys Scouts of America.

According to the organization's president, Joyce VonVreckin, "the friendships of the individuals who travelled on the many excursions developed into close bonds that helped to make the special times to be shared turn into memories." The other officers were Vice-President Jeaneen Zappa, Secretary Kathy Schultz, and Treasurer Jean Heany. The club, comprised of about 127 members was sponsored by Mr. Madzelonka.

Effectively Handles It's Duties to Students

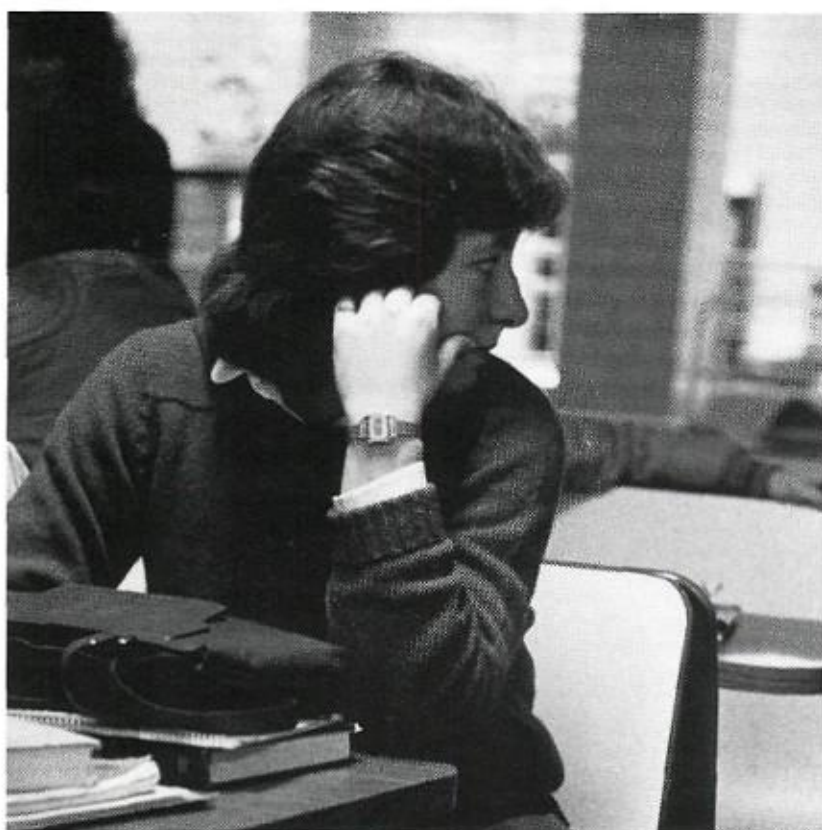

The governing council at North Hills during the 1982-1983 school year was involved in the coordinating of student activities and other matters of interest. The primary goal of the student council, sponsored by Mr. Joe Bufalino, with MaryAnn D'Alessandro, president, Chris Killeen, vice-president, and Liz McKenna, secretary-treasurer, was to benefit the students, school, and community. This year the council sponsored several dances, courted senior citizens to school activities, and continued its annual candycane sale for Children's Hospital, in addition to organizing many other worthwhile activities. The council also consisted of a "class" section sponsored by Mr. Bill Stebler. Officers were elected by their classmates to benefit their individual class with the help of the representatives. Any interested student was invited to attend the class meetings and aid in decision-making. The junior class goal was to comprise a superior Junior Prom while the seniors attended to the responsibilities of promoting a fantastic Senior Week, Homecoming Night, Senior Dinner Dance, and Senior Prom. Listening to the opinions of representatives and students, the hard-working governing councils provided the student body with a memorable year.

SYNCHRONIZED SWIMMING

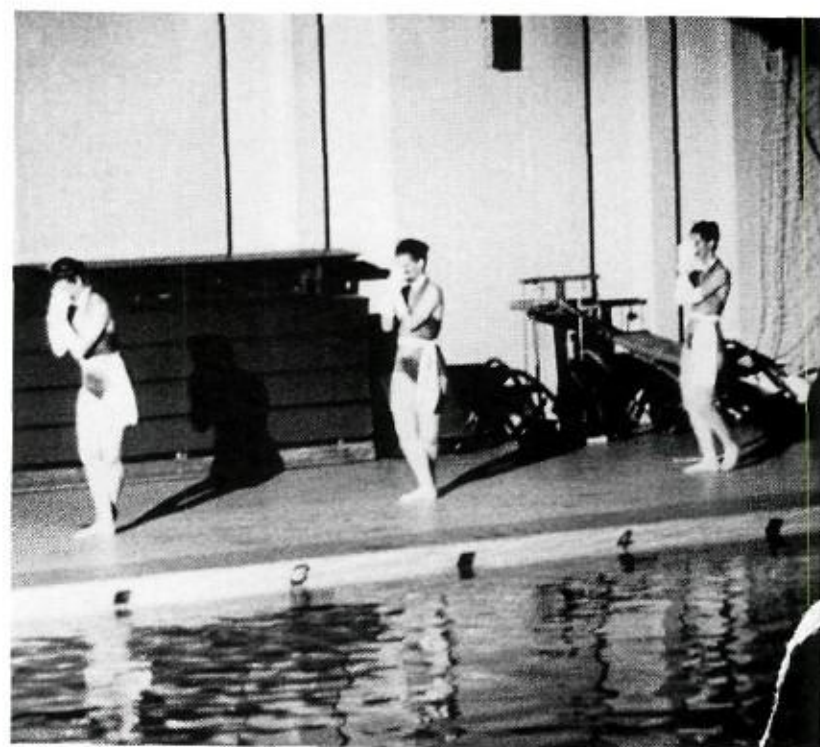

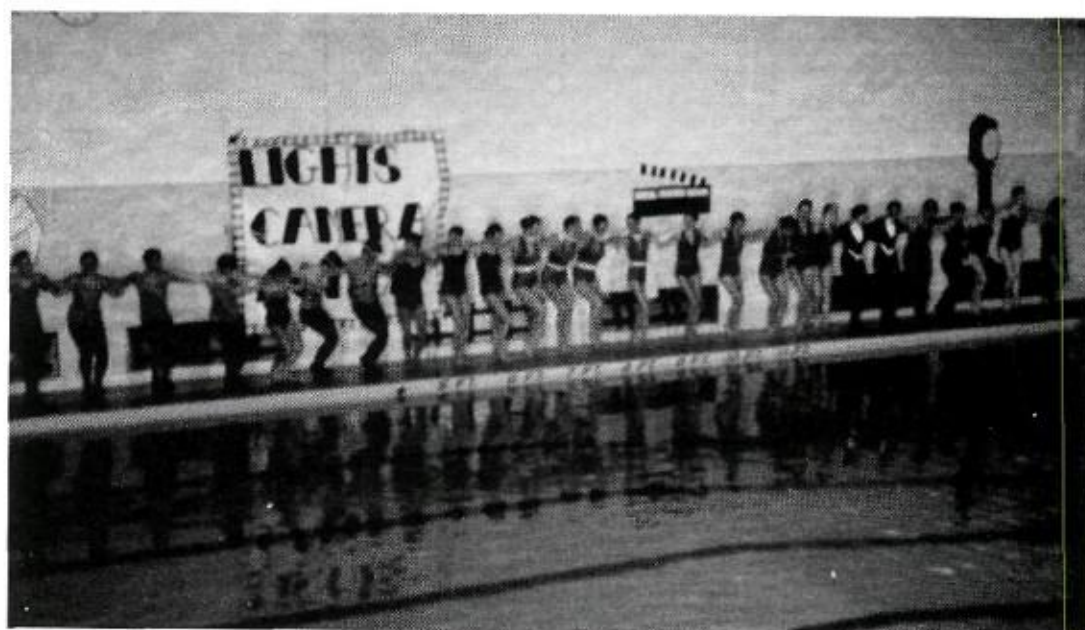

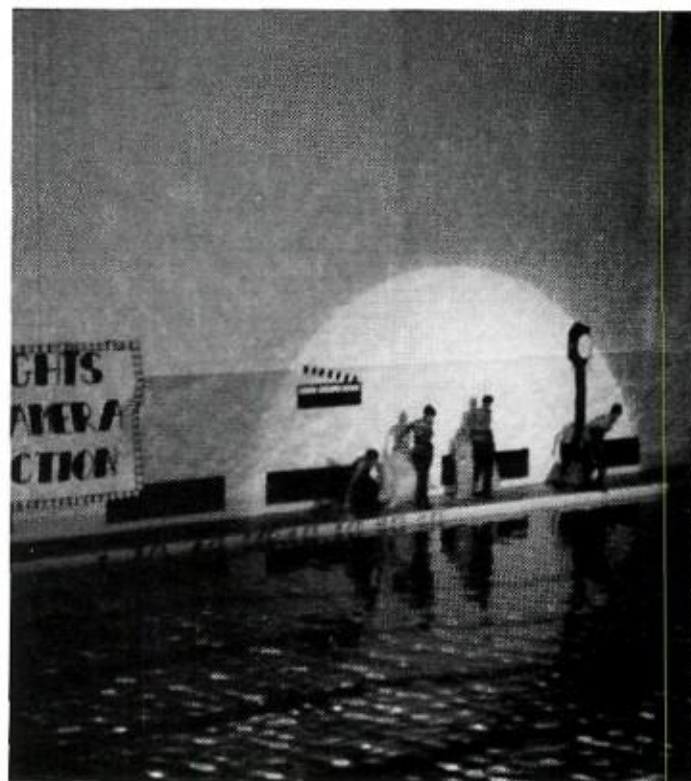

Precision and Beauty

The 1983 Synchronized Swimming Team gracefully dove into another year of precision and beauty. Practices during the evenings, under the supervision of Kathy Wilt, preceded the exciting spring show.

The performance consisted of precision group routines, and duets. In addition, Beth Wilt dazzled the audience with her solo performance.

The team delivered two spectacular evenings of aquatic entertainment. Senior Holly Hughes said of the thrilling splashing tribute to musical names, "I hope it was as much fun to watch as it was to do!"

The Synchronized Swimming officers were President Beth Wilt, Vice-President Michelle Adamchik, Secretary Linda Kocert, and Treasurer Michelle Bright.

AFS, American Field Service, was a club that helped North Hills students to experience different cultures and meet people. Throughout the year, AFS raised money, through selling candy bars and Current Stationery, to host students from other countries and to assist in paying for students to go abroad.

Several times throughout the year, the members got together for activities. The main activity of the year was the AFS weekend, which was March 10, 11, and 12. On Thursday night, exchange students and American students who have been abroad from surrounding school districts came to spend the weekend. On Friday, they came to the high school and shared their experiences with North Hills students. The entire weekend gave AFS members and North Hills students a chance to meet and exchange different cultures. AFS, as a club, opened up new horizons for North Hills students through interacting with students from other cultures.

Arrowhead: Straight to the Point

North Hills High School published its first newspaper twenty-five years ago with its first issue of the Arrowhead in October, 1958. The Arrowhead has changed in many ways since then. For example, it changed from a six page leaflet to a twenty page magazine; it has grown from being simply extracurricular to being published by students receiving journalism credit. The journalism teacher and sponsor of the newspaper was Ms. Nance Matviko. She helped the editor-in-chief, senior Greg Angell lead his team of editors and staff to improve their skills. Last year the Arrowhead was entered in the Ben Franklin competition and received the award for best newspaper in Allegheny County. The newspaper was also entered in the Columbia Journalism competition, and received third place.

Each issue of the Arrowhead this year was based on a specific theme. Examples were: drugs, family, work, and recognition. Before the year ended, the Arrowhead staff hoped to compete in more competition and do better than ever. The Arrowhead moved a long way over twenty-five years - another example of the nature and imminence of change.
